Feng Shui Living

“Elevate your life to experience more inner peace and joy

Why living in a soulful environment at work and at home activates your power to manifest your dreams

As the world continues to undergo massive changes environmentally, economically and politically, and as the systems we have been programmed to depend on continue to breakdown and shift, the need to design our lives to be adaptable is critical. The purpose of Feng Shui Living is to have a safe, self sustaining, environmentally friendly place to retreat to so our lives continue to thrive.

Having this creates a feeling of inner peace and balance which is vital to restore and rejuvenate our energy. Living in an environment in harmony with our natural energy blueprint as a place that not only looks beautiful but can also help us to adapt to many unexpected changes is essential to our well-being.

How does Feng Shui work for those unfamiliar with it?

Feng Shui is an ancient art form that has been utilized for centuries to help dynasties maintain their fortunes and happiness. It works with the natural forces of the universe and elements of nature to create balance and flow in all areas of one's life. Living beautifully with modern Feng Shui as a lifestyle simply has taken the ancient principles and integrated them into the lives and environments of today. Its Philosophy is that our homes are a mirror of what's going on within us. Our spaces are very different now being built in tall skyscrapers, very disconnected from the earth. Feng Shui will help connect your energy with the powerful energy of the universe to support your life to thrive.

How does living in a Feng Shui inspired interior affect the overall energy of the person living in the space?

When we are aligned and thriving within an environment that is matched to the nature of our true inner human design and heart's desires, it opens up a huge opportunity to elevate your everyday living to a whole new level – it's a true 360 degree approach to lifestyle. The interior becomes a work of art expressing your authentic soul-style. It is a holistic approach to deliberately designing your life, environment and how you live your life.. Being surrounded with artistry and beauty that reflects your essence will make you feel Joy, and when we Love with where we live, loving all life is greatly expanded.

Elyse, could you expand on how you practice the life changing magic of modern Feng Shui to bring more Joy to your clients lives?

The Feng Shui style I practice raises one's vibrational consciousness and awareness. It also expands the heart chakra energy by integrating the right colors, elements, and directional placement of the furnishings and art with the specific elements designed for the individual. I have been trained in energy clearing and activation so each consultation sets in motion a new energetic pattern that helps my clients manifest their intentions and hearts desires. It is Life By Design – Feng Shui. As an intuitive channel, this gift assists the process of transmitting information to the client during the consultation for their spiritual evolution.

Being trained in the shamanic Intuitive school of Feng Shui, then later in the classic method, and, after 30 years of working with people coast to coast, selling stuck properties, helping individuals launch purpose driven businesses, and bringing people together in healthier relationships, I can say it totally works. I use the principles of both systems to help shift the energy and open up new pathways for my clients to experience their lives expanded, happier and more peaceful. What makes it Modern is simply the way it all is executed. The enhancements and cures are all installed as beautiful customized elements. The art and sacred objects all fit in with the overall design and empower the clients energy.

What is the difference between average high end interiors and a truly curated soulful space?

Much of what we are seeing in the current interior design industry which I believe creates a cold impersonal feeling for the residents is the result of a basic disconnect. There's a misalignment coming from both the client and the designer from what I have observed. The client isn't connected to what they truly want or even like from a soul level, and the designer is not connecting to their clients on a very personal level, nor asking deeper questions other than the typical surface, visual and lifestyle questions. This occurs because the client is not involved in the process correctly from the beginning. Most design firms have lost the personal connection in operating as a big business. I do see the direction & trend in interior design bringing in more of the sacred so it evokes an emotion and provides a spiritual lift helping people feel they are truly living in a home designed for their soul. My company curates lifestyles, not just spaces. We are holistic in our approach and in order to do that we get to know our clients on a deeply personal level, in the process they get to know themselves on a deeper level. It's a beautiful soul-inspired synergy relationship.

What are the steps to take to begin this process if someone is interested in help so that they can live and work in more harmony with their uniquely designed environment and business?

We have a proprietary system to help guide people back home to their Soul-styled self, and aligned business model. It is a powerful blueprint to live a higher vibe life where you and your environment and business are woven together as a beautiful tapestry.

The best place to begin is with a Soul Signature design session, or wealth dynamics profile- we can proceed with the design or refresh of the interior environment if it is needed after that.
